IN THE DAYS OF HER GIRLHOOD

Reminiscences of Mrs. Dora K. Crittenden
Contributed by Rebecca J. Crittenden

These memories were related at a tea given by Mrs. F. P. Gray in San Francisco in 1916 and were transcribed by Leora Knapp to send to old friends of Mrs. Crittenden in Plumas County, Calif. She said of Mrs. Crittenden, "Even though ninety-three years of age, she is as spry as any of us and her mind is wonderfully active. If we could all grow old as beautifully as Mrs. Crittenden, what a blessing it would be! She sat in a big armchair near the window, with the light falling softly across her kindly, wrinkled face. I say wrinkled, but all the wrinkles I can remember were those smiling wrinkles around the eyes which denote years of happy thoughts. In a confident, clear voice she told us the following story."

"In the summer of 1832, when I was seven years old, my mother took my sister and myself on a canal boat to New York City. It took about a week to make the trip. We cooked our own meals on board and slept in hammocks which were hung up at night. We visited Lambertsville in New Jersey for some weeks, and also spent some time at New Hope - just across the Delaware in Pennsylvania. On our return we stopped in New York City for a visit. While there, a day was set apart as a gala day, for Ex-President Andrew Jackson and Black Hawk, a friendly Indian, were to be there at Castle Garden. A balloon was sent up, probably the first ever known. Black Hawk gazed at it long and earnestly, then covered his eyes with his hand and said, 'It makes me dizzy.'

"When I was a little girl I had the pleasure and honor of meeting President Van Buren, who treated me with some consideration and attention. I wonder if I wore those long, flopping pink calico pantaloons at that time.

"After that I saw Rutherford B. Hayes at the time he was President. I also attended a reception given to President Grant, and we all remember Mr. Benjamin Harrison and what a grand time we had.

"We all know what a powerful man President McKinley was. He was in San Francisco and occupied the Scott mansion. One morning my grandson (Charles Crittenden) went out into the chicken yard and he found a nest of fresh eggs. He took it into his head Mrs. McKinley would like some fresh eggs, so he started for the Scott residence. He found a guard at the gate who directed him to a gentleman who was just then entering the front door, and told him that was the President. He went up to Mr. McKinley and presented his basket and told him they were for Mrs. McKinley. Mr. McKinley then talked with him and asked him some questions, and when he returned to Washington he sent my little grandson a nice letter, and that letter is now framed and hanging in a conspicuous place in his home.

"I have been introduced to Mr. Roosevelt, a good man, and hope to shake hands with President Wilson some day.

"In 1848 I attended the first convention ever held in the interest of women's suffrage. A friend and his daughter called and invited me to go with them to this convention which was held in Seneca Falls at the Methodist Church. Mrs. Bloomer, the wife of Dexter Bloomer, a prominent lawyer of that State was among those present. It was a large gathering for those times, and they came from different cities to attend this convention. I remember Elizabeth Cady Stanton. Judge Cady was very indignant that his daughter had started this question of suffrage. She was the organizer of that convention, and a few days after I saw her dressed in the Bloomer costume - it was a dark green, and made probably of cashmere. It was made sack fashion, belted in at the waist, and came down half way between the knee and ankle, and below that was the Turkish trousers. It looked very nice, and it would have been a great saving had the ladies adopted it. I think it was really a most desirable costume, and very convenient.

"Among those present was Mr. Fred Douglas, a negro - black as your silk dress, a man whose name you will find in the history of the United States.

"Two years before this convention a Quakeress, Lucretia Mott, came up to Seneca Falls and told us we were not having the rights we should, and it started some to thinking, but there was bitter opposition on all sides. I think the whole question started with the Quakers. They were a liberal, thoughtful, kindly people, and did all in their power to help suffrage.

"In 1853 we started for California via Panama. When we landed at Colon we took a train for Barbequa, but on the way a bridge gave way and the locomotive and one passenger coach went down and some people lost their lives. I happened to be in the last car and so was safe. We then walked two miles to Barbequa, arrived safely and put up at a building that I thought was made of corn stalks. We had something to eat, I believe we had beans and coffee sweetened with syrup. Next morning we were poled up the Shagras River which was lined with beautiful vines and trees. The men who poled the canoes were naked except for something around their hips. I do not suppose they dress so scantily now, for that was sixty-five years ago. At Shagras we stayed all night and next morning mounted surefooted burros and continued our journey. At Panama we stayed over night - slept on the floor and glad to. The next morning I was out early looking around the place, and went into a church. In this church was a picture of the Christ, dressed like Fanny Elaser, the famous dancer. That is the only thing I remember about that church. It was a large picture hanging on the wall, a halo over the head, probably the Spanish idea of Christ.

"Then we took the steamer for San Francisco, the John L. Stevens. The steamer that I took at New York was the Tennessee. Our trip was very pleasant and we arrived in San Francisco October 17th, 1853. The evening I landed I was married to Mr. Crittenden. There were twenty people at my wedding, and not one is living. Mrs. Ladd (one of the ladies present) was at the house where my husband was living. That house stood in Hardy Place on Kearny Street between Bush and Sutter Streets. It was one of a group of houses and Mr. Woodward, of Woodward's Gardens, was one of the occupants, and was present at my wedding. This house had been brought out from Boston. It had two stories, a long hall through the center, large living room on the right, and double parlors on the left with a fireplace. It was a large building for those times, but has been gone for many years. My wedding gown was a pale lavender barege, like mohair, trimmed with satin.

"I think I began teaching in San Jose in 1856, and taught there thirty years. My maiden name was Deborah Scott, and I was born in 1825 in New York State, Seneca County, between Waterloo and Geneva."

After Mrs. Crittenden finished her story, the following acrostic was read and presented to her by Mrs. Gray.

D Dear friend, go with me o'er the hills of time:
O gaze with wonder at the scenes sublime:
R Renew your memory of life's young morn
A And let the roses hide each cruel thorn.

K Kindling anew the fires of filial love,

C Consume the dross; the residue approve.
R Responding quickly to your nation's needs.
I In home your queenly reign meets noble deeds;
T To serve with love each precious member pleads
T To multitudes of youth rich precepts teach,
E Enlisting now "for God and country" each,
N Now youth, then middle life, advancing age
E E'en though, to you dear friend, time's stream runs slow,
N Now rest content in sunset's golden glow.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF ELISHA AND SUSANNAH(WING) SMITH OF LIVERMORE, MAINE

Compiled by Olive M. Searle of Westfield, Mass., and Doris E. Hanson of Newark, New Jersey

Some account of the earlier generations of this Smith family is found in The History of Martha's Vineyard, by C. E. Banks,(1) as follows:

I. The Rev. John(1)Smith, "only son and heir" of Thomas Smith of Brinspitiae, near Dorchester, England, probably born there 1614, died "in extreme old age" at Sandwich, Mass., married at Barnstable, Mass., 13 June 1643, Susanna Hinckley, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Soule), baptized Tenterden, Kent, England, 6 Nov. 1625.

II. Benjamin(2)Smith, born Barnstable, Mass., 7 Jan. 1658, died Edgartown, Mass., 4 July 1720, married after 16 June 1684, Jedidiah Mayhew, daughter of the Rev. Thomas and Jane() Paine, born probably at Edgartown, Mass., about 1656, died there 6 Jan. 1736.

III. Thomas(3)Smith, born Edgartown, Mass., May 1697, died at Tisbury, Mass., 13 Apr. 1765, married 9 Nov. 1721, Elizabeth Bassett, daughter of Nathan and Mary(Huckins), born Chilmark, Mass., 12 Sept. 1699, died Tisbury, Oct. 1761. Through the line of Elizabeth Bassett, descendants of Elisha Smith are descendants of the Mayflower Pilgrims, John and Elizabeth (Tilley)Howland. This line has been accepted by the Society of Mayflower Descendants.

IV. Rainsford(4)Smith, born Edgartown, Mass., 12 Aug. 1722, died Tisbury, 10 June 1811, married about 1744, Elizabeth Lambert, daughter of Samuel and Mary(), born 10 Oct. 1727, at Tisbury, died there 31 Mar. 1813. The line of Rainsford Smith through his son Elisha has been accepted by the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution.

Unless otherwise indicated all towns mentioned hereafter are in Maine.

The original town of Livermore was divided in 1843 with the portion east of the Androscoggin River called East Livermore. More recently the name of the town of East Livermore was changed to Livermore Falls. Sections of Livermore are called North Livermore, South Livermore and Livermore Center. A part of Livermore is now included in the town of Leeds.

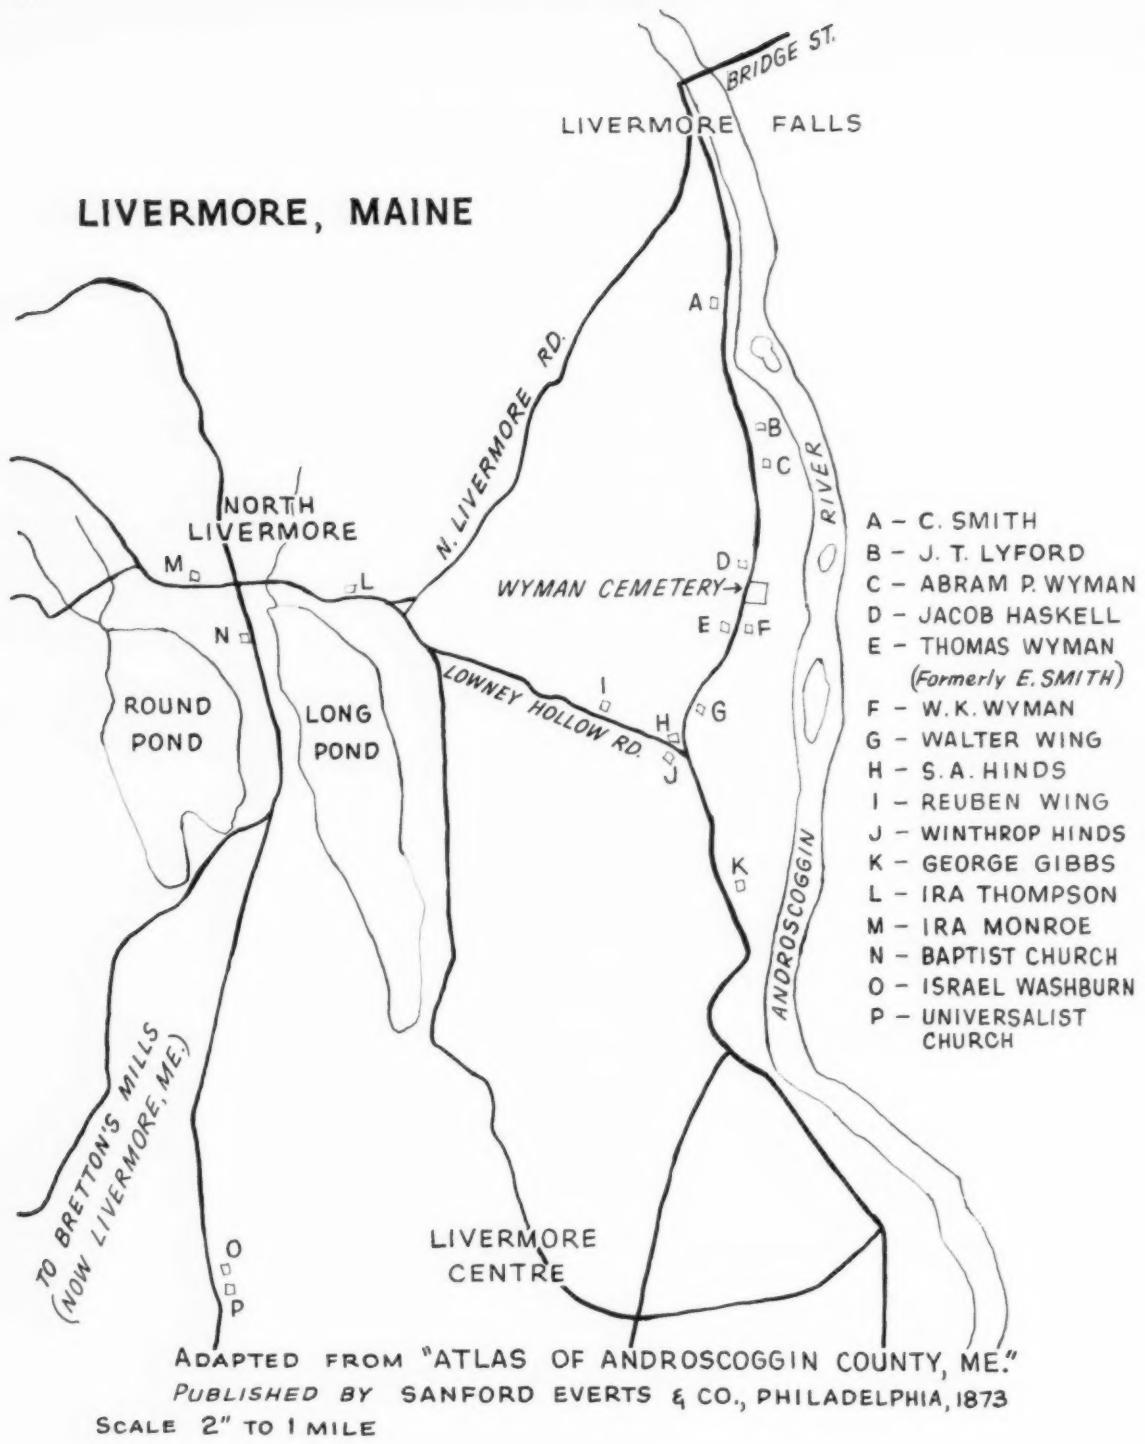

1. ELISHA(5)SMITH, son of Rainsford and Elizabeth(Lambert), born Tisbury, Mass., 20 Mar. 1750, died at Livermore, 10 Aug. 1841. Elisha Smith "of Chatham, Mass.," married August 1768, at Harwich, Mass., Susannah Wing, daughter of Elathan and Hannah(Allen), born Harwich, 21 Aug. 1734, probably died at Livermore before 1808, as the town records of Livermore contain the marriage intentions of Elisha Smith and Mrs. Priscilla Owen, 25 Oct. 1808. The History of Wayne gives the marriage intentions of Elisha Smith of Livermore and Mary Washburn of Wayne, 1829. The 1830 census of Livermore lists the family of Elisha Smith with one male age 80-90 and one female, age 70-80. He is not listed in the 1840 census. Probably he was then living in the home of one of his grandchildren.

CHILDREN, of Elisha(5) and Susannah(Wing)SMITH, all born in the part of Winthrop that is now Readfield:(2)

- i. Beulah, (6) b. 19 Sept. 1769; d. bef. Aug. 1799; m. (1) John Winter,
No descendants have been found. (2) William Carver.
- 2. ii. Abigail, b. 8 Dec. 1771; d. 21 Feb. 1849.
- 3. iii. Susannah, b. 17 July 1775; d. 30 Mar. 1825.
- 4. iv. Hannah, b. 13 Sept. 1777; d. Oct. 1799.

2. ABIGAIL(6)SMITH, daughter of Elisha(5) and Susannah(Wing), born Winthrop, 8 Dec. 1771, d. 21 Feb. 1849, at Dead River, originally buried at Flagstaff. All the bodies at Flagstaff have been moved to Stratton. She married(1) 1790, Eliphalet Rowell, son of Enoch, born Candia, N.H., 6 Aug. 1768, died about 1801, "killed in a fall of trees", at East Livermore, buried in the Wyman Cemetery. At the time of his death Eliphalet Rowell was building the house later occupied by Abram P. Wyman(C on the map). Abigail probably lived in this house until she married(2) Jedediah White, son of Jedediah and Elizabeth(Wellington). He had been married before to Polly Knoah and had five children by her. For a time Abigail probably lived at his home in Jay as the births of her White children are recorded there. But almost certainly they returned to live in the house in East Livermore, as there is a strong family tradition that George Washington White and his younger brother were born in the old house. Apparently in their old age they lived at Dead River with their son and died there. Jedediah White died 25 June 1846, aged 86, buried in the Flagstaff Cemetery.

3. SUSANNAH(6)SMITH, daughter of Elisha(5) and Susannah(Wing), born Winthrop, 17 July 1775, died Livermore, 30 Mar. 1825, buried in the Wyman Cemetery. She married the Rev. Thomas Wyman, son of Abraham and Dorothy(Call), born Winthrop, 10 Aug. 1770, died at Livermore, 1 Feb. 1825. Both he and his wife were charter members of the Baptist church at Livermore. He became an ordained Baptist minister in 1806 and was pastor at Livermore from 1811 to 1817. He was a man of great spiritual fervor and a fine singer. He was at one time pastor at Greene, where his son Samuel Stillman was born. Two sons and three grandsons became ministers. He purchased and settled on the farm cleared by his father-in-law, Elisha Smith. The westerly half of the lot where the buildings stand, remained in the family for five generations. (See map, E)

CHILDREN, of Rev. Thomas and Susannah(6)(Smith)WYMAN, all but one born at Livermore:

5. ABIJAH(7)ROWELL, son of Eliphilet and Abigail(6)(Smith), born at Livermore, 10 Oct. 1795, died there 6 Apr. 1885, buried at Pleasant Hill Cemetery, Livermore Falls. He married 20 Oct. 1816, Sophia(Warren)Leathe, daughter of Moses and Eleanor(White)Warren and widow of John Leathe, born 24 Mar. 1792, probably at Jay, died 29 May 1886, at Livermore Falls. Moses Warren was a Revolutionary soldier, a descendant of John Warren of Watertown, and through his grandmother Church, of Richard Warren of the Mayflower. His Mayflower number is 36, 463.

CHILDREN, of Abijah(7) and Sophia(Warren)Leathe ROWELL, born at Livermore:

- 14. i. Eleanor Curtis, (8) b. 21 July 1817; d. 9 Feb. 1905.
 - ii. Abigail, b. ; d. ; m. Summer Downing.
 - iii. Eliphilet, b. 1822; d. ; m. Ellen F. Smith; daughter, Ellen F. Rowell, m. William F. Newcombe.
 - iv. William W., b. ; d. 19 June 1855, California.
 - 15. v. John A., b. 1829; d. 1897.
 - vi. Edwin W., b. 1835; d. ; m. Arexzine Brackett.
- From the family records of Mrs. E. C. Lane, Livermore Falls, Me.

6. ABIGAIL(7)ROWELL, daughter of Eliphilet and Abigail(6)(Smith), born Livermore, 8 Apr. 1797, died there 7 Sept. 1876, married 1 May 1823, Atsatt Luce, son of Shubael and Sally (Atsatt), born 23 Nov. 1794, died 12 Mar. 1865. About 1786 Shubael Luce and his family left Martha's Vineyard, Mass., for Maine. Both Shubael and his father were privates in the coast defenses of Martha's Vineyard during the Revolution.

CHILDREN, of Atsatt and Abigail(7)(Rowell)LUCE, born at Readfield:

34. JAMES(5) GOOLD, son of David and Rebecca (Granger) Goold, b. Granby, Conn., 28 July 1790, d. Albany, N.Y., 1 Oct. 1879; m. there 30 Jan. 1814, ELIZABETH VAIL, b. 1796, d. 1882, dau. of Samuel and Siche D. Vail.

When James Goold was four years old his parents moved to Stephentown, Renssalaer Co., N.Y. At age fourteen he was apprenticed to a bookbinding establishment at Troy, N.Y., but he left there shortly and went to Pittsfield, Mass. to learn carriage making, the trade he was to follow for the rest of his life. In 1813 he moved to Albany, N.Y., where he soon had a thriving business.

The Mohawk and Hudson Railway made a contract with the Goold Company on 23 Apr. 1831 for the three coaches which constituted the original DeWitt Clinton train operated between Albany and Schenectady later that year. When James Goold's factory was destroyed by fire in 1838, the community was so concerned over its loss that arrangements were made to finance the rebuilding as a public service.

In addition to railway coaches, he made horsecars; and the first such car made for use in Albany was later acquired by Henry Ford for his Dearborn museum. Goold products were displayed at many international fair and expositions; and the name of James Goold, as one of the historic figures of railroading, was given a place of honor at the New York World's Fair.

IV. SARAH ANN SUTTON, b. Washtenaw Co., Mich., about 1827, d. Petersburg, Ill., about 1864; m. Isaac White, b. about 1822, d. about 1896, son of Hiram White. Both are buried at Petersburg, Ill. According to the 1850 census of Cass Co., Ill., Sarah was then 25, born in Michigan, Isaac White was 30, born in New York, but since these dates conflict with family data, the dates given in Meeker's genealogy have been judged more accurate and are used here.

Sarah, Isaac, her brother Nathan and his wife are credited with an early visit from Illinois back to their old home in Michigan. They traveled by covered wagon with a cow tied to the tailgate and each woman holding a baby on her lap. When they got to Ann Arbor, they saw a group of Indians chasing a pig down the street. When the pig was caught, the squaws butchered it on the spot.

Isaac White and Sarah Sutton had eight children:

1. Jennie White, b. about 1845; m. Dr. Joseph Newcomer. Four of their sons were physicians like their father. In the 1850 census Jennie was enumerated as "Eliza", called after her aunt who was then living in the household.
 - i. Al Newcomer.
 - ii. Joseph Newcomer.
 - iii. Jean Newcomer.
 - iv. Irving Newcomer.
 - v. Nathan Newcomer.
 - vi. Paul Newcomer.
 - vii. Bertha Newcomer.
2. Anna M. White, b. 1848; m. Charles T. Lewis, b. 1846, d. 1935, son of William H. and Christian (Boyd) Lewis. She was "Maria" in the 1850 census.
 - i. Effie Lewis, b. 11 Dec. 1869, living Petersburg, Ill.; m.(1) Irving Beard, three children; m.(2) Alexander Bradley, one daughter.
 - ii. Walker Lewis, b. 24 June 1873; m. Hedwig , living Oak Park, Ill. Four sons.
 - iii. Lucy Lewis m. Flickinger.
 - iv. Arthur Lewis.
 - v. Edna Lewis m. William Taylor, living Petersburg, Ill. Three chn.
 - vi. Agnes Lewis m. William J. Luthringer, liv. Petersburg, Ill. One son.
 - vii. Christine Lewis m. Dave Finney. Four children.
3. Hardy White. He married and had two sons and a daughter.
4. Effie White m. Matteson. Eight children.
5. Bertha White m. Laning. No children.

Fifth Generation

V. WILLIAM SYLVESTER SUTTON, b. in a log cabin in Cass Co., Ill., 21 April 1844, d. at Greenview, Ill., 22 Feb. 1921; m. at Austin, Cass Co., Mo., 14 Nov. 1867, Mary Ellen Seaver, b. Murphyboro, Ill., 26 Jan. 1847, d. at Springfield, Ill., 15 July 1928. She was a cousin of his uncle George Sutton's wife through her mother, Nancy Ann (Hughes) Seaver. William Sylvester was always called by his second name and even signed his name thus on legal papers. Only the histories and his tombstone used his first name. Both he and his wife are buried in Mt. Olive Cemetery, Cass Co., Ill.

On 4 Aug. 1862, his parents 20th Wedding Anniversary, Sylvester Sutton enlisted in Co. K, 114th Reg't. Illinois Infantry. His descriptive roll the following January says he was 19, 5 ft. 8 in. tall, and had hazel eyes, light(!) hair and dark complexion; his discharge papers, dated 3 Aug. 1865 at Vicksburg, say he was 18, 5 ft. 9 in. tall, and had dark eyes, dark hair, and dark complexion.

His life membership certificate in the Illinois State Association of Union Prisoners of War shows that he was captured at Guntown, Miss. on 11 June 1864 and escaped from Andersonville Prison on 12 Nov. 1864. Tradition says this escape was effected during an exchange of prisoners, when Sylvester went forward for a New York soldier who had died in camp. The speech which he made on Memorial Day 1920 on the presentation of his Company's flag stated that only nine of the one hundred and two members of his group were then still living.

Following their marriage Sylvester and Mary Ellen lived near Butler, Mo. for seven years, then moved to Oakford, Ill., where he ran a general store with his brothers John and David for five years. In 1879 they moved to Chapman, Merrick Co., Nebr.; in 1894 they returned to Illinois, farming for a time near Chandlerville before they retired to Greenview. The month before their Golden Wedding, Sylvester, Mary and the Hornuckles made an anniversary tour to the reunion of the Battle of Vicksburg, Miss.

Sylvester Sutton and Mary Ellen Seaver had four children:

1. Walter Scott Sutton (twin), b. 25 July 1869, d. Janesville, Wis., 18 July 1918; m. Janesville, 1907, Jennie Bray. They had a son Sylvester and an adopted daughter Thresa.
2. Mary Ellen Sutton (twin), b. and d. 25 July 1869, Butler, Mo.
3. James Oscar Sutton, b. Oakford, Ill., 23 Nov. 1874, d. unmarried, Cass. Co., Ill., 11 Feb. 1909, bur. Mt. Olive Cemetery, Cass Co., Ill.
4. Elizabeth Ann Sutton, b. Chapman, Nebr., 13 Aug. 1883, living Springfield, Ill.; m. Havana, Ill., 24 Feb. 1910, Clarence Hornbuckle, who d. 20 Mar. 1949. They had no children, but raised an adopted daughter Juanita.

V. ALONZO SUTTON, b. Cass Co., Ill., 9 Sept. 1846, d. Ord, Valley Co., Nebr., 25 April 1937; m.(1) Cass Co., Ill., 19 Jan. 1871, Martha Ann Dick, b. Cass Co., Ill., 5 Dec. 1848, d. at Lincoln, Nebr., 29 June 1907, dau. of Levi and Ematere (Leeper) Dick. He m.(2) Ord, Nebr., 12 Jan. 1918, Mrs. Ellen (Kennedy) Braden, widow of William Braden. She was b. Greenburg, Pa., 21 Feb. 1851, d. Lincoln, Nebr., 18 Oct. 1936. All three are buried in Ord Cemetery.

Alonzo and Martha Sutton lived in Menard Co., Ill., where their five oldest children were born, one of whom died in infancy, unnamed. On 4 October 1882 they moved to Chapman, Nebr.; less than ten years later they moved again to Sherman Co., Nebr., on 30 March 1892. Here the three oldest children married before the parents moved to Valley County in 1899; here they lived for a while on a farm, then moved into town. On 7 Nov. 1905, Alonzo was elected Valley County Sheriff, a position he held for eleven years.

Alonzo Sutton and Martha Dick had six children:

1. Rowan D. Sutton, b. 4 Dec. 1871, d. Morrill, Nebr., 7 Sept. 1938; m. Ashton, Nebr., 16 Nov. 1898, Eva Ann Wilson, b. Iowa, 15 Aug. 1876, d. 13 Jan. 1937, dau. of Theodore and Libby (Carns) Wilson. Five children.

John and his last two wives are buried at Grandview, Wash.

In Illinois John and Hannah Sutton had taken a twelve year old orphan boy from Indiana to raise. The agreement was that they would feed and clothe him until he was twenty-one, and then give him a team and wagon, as was customary in that day. His name was James Tegarden, and he later became a dentist in California. It was at Chapman, Nebr. that "Jimmy" came of age, set up farming for himself, and sent for his sister Mary to come and keep house for him. When John Sutton's wife died, he then married Jimmy's sister as his second wife.

John's obituary, which names none of his wives, says he was a veteran of the Civil War, 114th Illinois Pontonier Regiment, that he moved to Washington in 1906, after a short time in Yakima and Provo, Utah, then moved to Greenview, where he developed a piece of sagebrush and grew a fine orchard. He was a Baptist for 78 years and a Mason for 60 years.

John Sutton and his first wife Hannah Ogden had three children:

1. Ida Sutton, d. age 3 years, buried Oakford, Ill.

THE FIVE-YEAR INDEX for the 16th through the 20th volumes of The DSGR Magazine is now ready for delivery, continuing the indexes already issued for the first 15 volumes. It comprises 442 pages on which are listed approximately 40,000 names with volume and page references for each. Like the other indexes it matches the Magazine in size, and is available in paper covers, or in sheets, if you prefer. If you have a file of The DSGR Magazine, you will undoubtedly want this newest research aid. The price is $10.00, payable in advance with your order.

FIRST STEPS IN CLIMBING THE FAMILY TREE by Prof. R. E. Bidlack, is the reproduction of his excellent talk at the Conference on Local History Participation last November. It is already proving most popular with newcomers and experienced searchers. This is available to members at 60¢ per copy by mail (50¢ if picked up) and to non-members at $1.00 per copy.

For either, please make check payable to The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research and mail with your order to Miss Alice Serrell, 1005 Romeo Road, R. 2, Rochester, Michigan.

SOME 1810 CENSUS LISTS FROM WESTERN NEW YORK

Contributed by Mrs. Edward V. Howlett, Pontiac, Michigan

In 1810 the Federal Census listed the members of the family, both male and female, in five categories according to age: To 10 yrs; 10-16; 16-26; 26-45; 45 and over; with additional Classifications for "Any Other Free" and "Slaves". The lists given below are from photostats of the original handwritten schedules, for Volume IV of the 1810 Census for New York, where they are found under "Niagara County", on the pages cited. Colean and Chautauqua Townships are now in Cattaraugus and Chautauqua Counties, respectively. Instead of first names, the census-taker used only initials for each head of a family; in certain cases, particularly "I" and "J", it is impossible to tell which is which.

DATA ON EIGHT FAMILIES FROM GUILFORD, VERMONT
Contributed by Miss Kunice Lamb, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan

Records kept by Town Clerks can be most helpful to a searcher, as witness the scope of the data secured on the Burrows, Collins, Gallup, Harkness, Olin, Stark, Todd and Williams families. The Town of Guilford, Vermont is in the southern part of Windham County, bordering the Massachusetts line, west of and not far from the Connecticut River. In securing the information on these eight families, data was accumulated from vital, town meeting, church and land records, as well as from a family cemetery. The reference includes book and page of the Town Clerk's volumes.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT TO OUR MEMBERS

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research, at the regular meeting on April 11, 1959, amended its by-laws by increasing the annual dues and/or magazine subscription rate from two to three dollars, effective with Volume XXIII or September 1, 1959.

We have been proud of the fact that the original dues rate, established in 1936, had been maintained and had included our Magazine for its first 22 years -- and this present action was not hastily taken. Studies of corresponding publications were made and all possible economies effected -- but the higher costs of printing and postage have finally overbalanced the budget. We have no advertising rates to increase -- we do not want to use less expensive materials or processes (as a matter of fact, we have plans for making the Magazine even better) -- and our only alternative is to secure more income from membership dues and subscriptions.

We shall continue to publish family histories which meet the standards already established; we shall continue to publish local records received from members, irrespective of locality; we shall continue to insert your queries free of charge, with no limitation as to number or words; we shall continue the feature articles helpful to the beginner, yet interesting to those with all stages of genealogical experience. We hope that all our members will continue contributing and reading our DSGR Magazine. We want you to share with us what satisfaction and accomplishment we attain in trying to meet the exciting challenge of bringing out a magazine that is national in scope and published, along professional standards, by amateur genealogists, for the benefit of all searchers.

COLLINS-WILLIAMS CEMETERY RECORDS

The Collins-Williams Cemetery is located in the southwest corner of the Town of Guilford, west of the Green River and south of a small brook which runs into the Green River. It is in a wooded area, not noticeable from the road; it is on a slight elevation and is surrounded by a low wall of flat stones. These inscriptions were copied in 1957.

There are some unmarked graves and several marked by fieldstones. Regarding unmarked graves on the Stark lot, the report has been carried down in family records that William Stark, son of Daniel and grandson of Nathan Stark, stated in a letter that "in the Collins Cemetery, in the corner above the graves of Relief and Daniel Jr., there were four fieldstone markers indicating the graves of Nathan and Esther (Gallup) Stark and Daniel and Esther (Harkness) Stark." Family records also state that Mrs. Amanda (Babcock) Stark, wife of Clark (also a son of Daniel and grandson of Nathan), wrote in a letter that Esther (Harkness) Stark said, of her father-in-law, "Father Stark died in 1830 and was 87 years old."

NOTES FROM FOUR BOVEE PENSION APPLICATIONS
Contributed by Mrs. Donald F. Bovee, Birmingham, Michigan

S 12275 NICHOLAS R. BOVEE: 1 May 1818 Nicholas am Bovee, ae about 57 yrs., made application for Revolutionary pension for service as "Batteaux man" for various periods of service; this was rejected. His name is spelled Ambover in the application but he signed with a mark above "Nicholas am Bovee".

17 Aug 1832, Nicholas R. Bovee, native of Brunswick in New Jersey, now of Villanova in Chautauqua County, New York, made application again under the act of 1831, stating that he enlisted at Schenectady 1 Feb 1777 and served to Saratoga. He also said "after Col. Brown was killed, Gen. Van Rensselaer arrived and took command", which would indicate service at Stone Arabia in 178 . His witnesses were Daniel Cross, a clergyman of Villanova and Stephen Burk of Sheridan, Chautauqua County. Certificate 8287 was issued 29 Mar 1833, allowing pension of $80.00 per annum.

S 23132 JACOB BOVEE: 25 Sept 1832 Jacob Bovee of the town of Hoosick, county of Rensselaer, New York, ae 70, made application for pension based upon service under Capt. Bradt in Col. Peter Yates' regiment in 1777 and 1778, his time being spent in scouting around Lakes George and Champlain, and for other service in 1880 under Gen. George Clinton. On 18 Sept 1832, Wm. Powell of Oppenheim, Montgomery Co., N.Y., testified that he moved from Cambridge in Washington Co., N.Y. in 1778 to Hoosick in Albany County and that he belonged to the same company with said Jacob for the next three years, under Capt. Gerrit Teuniz Bradt. On 19 Sept 1832 Frederick Onderkark (or Onderkark) of town of Hoosick gave similar testimony. 4 Feb 1834 Israel Keach, clergyman, and Pardon Cole of Hoosick gave depositions as character witnesses. Certificate 24833 was issued 10 Mar 1836 at $43.88 per annum, covering service as private for 13 months 5 days.

S 23135 JACOB BOVEE: Jacob Bovee, born 24 Nov 1756 at Outcalt (also written Outkill) in New Jersey, residing on 24 Dec 1832 at Broadalbin in Montgomery County, N.Y., made application for pension for service of six months as teamster for "Jersey Blues", being engaged in transporting baggage and sick soldiers to Montreal. He enlisted at Schenectady Patent where he was residing at Glenoble in March of 1776. He also claimed 3 weeks' service at Fort Edward in 1777 and that he was picket guard during the battle of Saratoga in 1778, at Bemis Camp in Schoharie.

Witnesses included Fones Cole and Charles M. Rogers, both of Broadalbin; Alexander(x) Van Eps of Charlton, Saratoga County, in his 78th year; and John Quackenboss of the city of Schenectady. Certificate 3995 was issued 23 Feb 1837 for pension at $20.00 per annum, for 6 months service, and was sent to the Hon. M. J. Bovee of the House of Representatives.

W 16916 NICHOLAS BOVEE: Polly Cole, widow, aged 78, residing in Gainesville, Wyoming Co., N.Y., made application on 9 Feb 1839 for pension based upon service of her first husband, Nicholas Bovee, also called Nicholas P. Bovee, to distinguish him from others of the same name. In this and a later statement on 28 Nov 1842, she claimed that she married Nicholas Bovee on 15 Apr 1779 at White Creek in Washington County, N.Y.; that they resided at Mapletown (near White Creek) and later removed to Schenectady, where they lived for 8 or 9 years before Nicholas died on 11 Mar 1796. She married, second, Benjamin Cole on 10 Sept 1801, who died on 16 Dec 1831. She listed the names of ten children by Nicholas Bovee:

i Philip, the eldest, d infancy	vi Sally, ae 53 in 1842, residing York, Livingston Co., N.Y., the eldest living at that time
ii Elizabeth
iii Daniel	vii John
iv Jacob	viii Harper
v Catherine	ix Esther
	x Isabel

Nicholas Bovee drew a full invalid pension of $5.00 per month; he had been wounded near Fort Stanwix by Indians, so dreadfully wounded that he never fully recovered. He had been shot through the arm, tomahawked in the hip and scalped (being later called "Sculpen Nick") while serving under Capt. Orson and Col. Peter Gansevoort who helped him secure his pension in 1786. Nicholas was three months convalescing at Fort Stanwix; several months at Schenectady and at Albany, where his mother and uncle went after him and carried him home on a bed. When allowed his pension on 7 May 1787, Nicholas "Bovie" was residing in Montgomery County. (The papers relating to his claim were not available, having been burned in 1814.)

Affidavits of others relating to Polly Cole's application included:

9 Jan 1839 Salatiel Cole stated that he was present when Benjamin Cole and Polly Bovee, widow of Nicholas, were married by Rev. Jonathan Finch in Broadalbin in Sept. 1801.

10 Jan 1839 Sarah Cole of Wales in Erie Co., N.Y., testified that Nicholas died in 1796.

Elizabeth Eldridge of town of Hartwell, Niagara County, was present and witnessed the marriage of Polly Cotwell to Nicholas Bovee by Rev. Wm. Waight of White Creek some time in April of 1779.

Catherine Kemp, as 74, sister of Nicholas Bovee, who married Polly Cotter in the spring of 1779, stated that her brother and sister left her mother's house in Hoosack in Mapletown, Washington, to attend the wedding of Nick and Polly in White Creek, a distance of 14 miles. Catherine lived with her mother. Nick and Polly lived with her mother and had two children, Philip and Elizabeth. Her mother was opposed to the match on the grounds that Nick was a cripple and, in his situation, he ought not to get married. Elizabeth, the second child, was born 12 Apr 1782.

2 Sept 1841 Lora Waite, son of Rev. Wm. Waite of White Creek, was unable to find a record of the marriage of Nicholas and Polly Bovee in his father's papers.

28 Nov 1842 Rachel Bovee, as 56, widow of "Jacob Bovee now departed this life who was son of Nicholas Bovee", living in the town of Castile, Wyoming County, deposed regarding the marriage of Polly Bovee and Benjamin Cole and the death of Benjamin. She also enclosed a letter sent to Jacob & Rachel Bovie 11 Aug 1827, mentioning the brother Harper, the sisters, and the mother.

On the same date, Daniel Cargill Jr. testified and included, as proof, the "family record of Daniel Cargill and Elizabeth (Bovee) Cargill, daughter of Polly Cole and Nicholas Bovee":

Daniel Cargill	b 17 Sept 1773	Mary	b 24 Apr 1805
Elizabeth Bovee	12 Apr 1782	Polly	7 Apr 1806
Elizabeth Cargill	4 Apr 1802	Polly	25 Mar 1808
Daniel Jr.	25 Jun 1803	Presson	6 Jan 1810

Daniel Foote, of Franklinville, Cattaraugus County, testified regarding death of Benjamin Cole at Franklinville in mid-December 1831, and that the widow Polly now resides in Gainesville, Genesee County.

Certificate 3831 was issued 28 Jan 1843 for a pension of $80.00 per annum to the widow Polly Cole.

BACKGROUND FOR GENEALOGY
Minnie Dubbs Millbrook

Americans have always been known as a foot-loose, traveling people. Our ancestors moved west and on west every generation or so. When we try to follow back on their trail, we meet many problems. By what path did they come? By what means, as well as when and where from In America the path, the trail, the road all have a special significance in the country's history.

Senator Hart Benton, the great advocate of westward expansion, had an eloquent theory about roads and trails and in 1850 he expounded it on the floor of the Senate:

"There is an idea become current of late - a newborn idea - that none but a man of science, bred in a school, can lay off a road. That is a mistake. There is a class of topographical engineers older than the schools, and more unerring than the mathematics. They are the wild animal, buffalo, elk, deer, antelope, bears, which traverse the forest, not by compass, but by an instinct which leads them always the right way - to the lowest passes in the mountains, the shallowest fords in the rivers, the richest pastures in the forest, the best salt springs, and the shortest, practicable lines between remote points. They travel thousands of miles, have their annual migrations backwards and forwards, and never miss the best and the shortest route. These are the first engineers to lay out a road in a new country; the Indians follow them, and hence a buffalo road becomes a warpath. The first white hunters follow the same trails in pursuing their game; and after that the buffalo path becomes the wagon road of the white man, and finally the macadamized or railroad or the scientific road of the scientific man."

Benton's romantic theory of the beginnings of the American road had one great flaw. The white man did not want, except in a very small way, to go to the salt lick or the rich pasture. He may have appropriated the ford and pass of the Indian but the first explorers and travelers make little mention of following buffalo tracks. As a matter of fact, the annual migrations of wild animals were generally north and south while man in America went mostly west and on west.

Every road began as a footpath and undoubtedly followed the Indian or buffalo tracks, if these happened to run in the right direction. But soon pack-horses were taken over these paths and the route had to be altered and a little axe-work and spade-work done before the bulky animals could follow the path of their smaller and more agile predecessors. The two-wheeled carts following the pack-horses, demanded still straighter, less steep and more open courses. In the forests more branches had to be removed and more under brush cleared away. As wagons grew larger, loads heavier and teams lengthened out in tandem, short curves had to be eliminated, grades made more gradual and roadbeds firmed. Bridges had to be built and swamps corduroyed. The shortest route was no longer the most practicable one. As traffic increased, the matter of maintaining a firm road surface became vital. Now came the day when roads became turnpikes and fees were charged for their use. A National Road was planned, running from the seaboard to Illinois.

Then in 1835 came the railroad and its increasing success and popularity. The local roads were mere feeders of the railroads and no one paid much attention to them. The National Road was forgotten before it was even finished. The Dark Age of the American road began and many of the roadways reverted to gullies and mud.

Around 1900 the motor car, another invention for American transportation, revived interest in roads and the modern development of our highways is one of the most absorbing chapters of twentieth century history. Many of us can remember the marking of the first trans-continental route of the old Lincoln Highway, designated by the red, white and blue stripes on telegraph poles, fence posts and even barns. Following the mark, many of us regained that old thrill that our forefathers must have had when they set forth on a long journey to a far destination, committing their lives and their fortunes to an unknown trail, followed only by unremitting watchfulness for dim tree blazes and crude signs.

While the energy of automobilists was first devoted to discovering and marking out the best route, that was soon transposed into pressure for a better road. The modern engineer, the scientific road-builder, still wrestles, but more ably, with the old problems of topography, curves, grades and road bed. And the American public, now better-served and more mobile than ever, spends more and more time on the road.

Dirck Jansen Van Zutphen of Kings County, New York

Dirck Jansen Van Zutphen arrived in New Netherlands in 1651 and settled on Long Island. He purchased a farm at Midwoud (Flatbush), and later resided at New Utrecht, Kings County, New York.

Records tend to disagree on the date of birth of the immigrant and on the vicinity of his residence prior to emigration. Research seems to indicate that he was a son of Jan Van Zutphen, born about 1600, a Dutch army officer stationed at Tongelre and a grandson of Dirck Van Zutphen, born 1562, a hero of the Dutch War of Independence. The surname, Van Zutphen, was anglicized during the second generation in America and took on three common forms: Sutphen, Sutphin, Sutfin.

In 1680, Dirck Jansen Van Zutphen married Lysbeth Janse Jacobse, a daughter of Jan and Geertie (Gysberts) Jacobse. Lysbeth used the surname of Van Nuys, since her mother had married a second time to Auck Jansen Van Nuys. Dirck and Lysbeth (Jacobse-Van Nuys) Van Zutphen had eleven children, of whom the eldest was Jacob Sutphen.

Jacob Sutphen was baptized at Flatbush, Long Island, 20 January 1684. After his father's death in 1707, he remained on the home plantation for a number of years. He married Antje Bennet, a daughter of Adrisen Willemse and Angenietje Jans (Van Dyck) Bennet of New Utrecht. He served as a deacon in the Dutch Reformed Church of New Utrecht. He later purchased 333 acres of land in Freehold Township, Monmouth County, New Jersey and settled there about 1718. Jacob and Antje (Bennet) Sutphen had nine children. Jacob and William, twins, were the fifth and sixth children, and were baptized at the Marlborough Dutch Reformed Church, 6 November 1720; the parents' given names were not shown on the baptismal records of the children.

Few records have been found pertaining to William Sutphen. He married Wyntie ----, probably a daughter of Pieter and Wynte Rimer, who were witnesses at the baptism of a son, John Sutphin. It is believed that William Sutphen and his family lived in the vicinity of New Brunswick or Cranbury, New Jersey, near the common boundary of Somerset and Middlesex counties. Their children, so far as known, were: John, Peter, and Annie. However, it seems reasonable to believe there must have been older children.

According to a family record of births and marriages, John Sutphin (Sutfin), was born 31 March 1759 at South Amboy, Middlesex County, New Jersey. He served in the American Revolution from 1776 to 1783. In 1786, he married Anna Snedeker, born 1769; died 1842; a daughter of Isaac and Sarah (Sutphin) Snedeker of South Brunswick Township, Middlesex County, New Jersey. Between 1798 and 1803, the family moved to Sempronius, New York, and from there to Lyons, Wayne County, New York. The nine children of John and Anna (Snedeker) Sutphin were: (1) William Henry, b. 10 Nov. 1786; d. 14 Feb. 1867; m. Anna Bodine; (2) Sarah, b. 5 Dec. 1788; m. Nicholas Hall; resided Mt. Morris, New York; (3) Isaac, b. 8 Mar. 1792; d. 21 Apr. 1855; m. Abigail Edgett; resided Lyons, New York; (4) Wyntie, b. 22 June 1794; m. Peter Hall; resided Lyons, New York; (5) Elias, b. 4 Mar. 1798; d. 6 June 1874; m. Margaret Lemmon; (6) John, twin, b. 20 June 1803; d. 7 Nov. 1854; m. Clarissa Sumner; (7) Anna, twin, b. 20 June 1803; d. 14 July 1900; m. Elijah Lemmon; resided Lyons, New York; (8) Peter, twin, b. 17 Apr. 1805; d. 2 Dec. 1863; m. Sally M. Bloomer; resided Lyons, New York; and (9) Rebecca, twin, b. 17 Apr. 1805; d. 4 Sept. 1863; m. James Stout.

William, Elias, and John Sutphin, as well as James and Rebecca (Sutfin) Stout, migrated to Michigan between 1834 and 1850--William and Elias to Macomb County, and John and Rebecca to Oakland County. Records on these branches of the family are fairly complete. A limited amount of information has been uncovered relevant to Isaac, Anna, and Peter Sutphin. Practically no data have been found by this compiler which relates directly to Sarah (Sutphin) Hall and Wyntie (Sutphin) Hall.

Anyone who has information about the immigrant progenitor, Dirck Jansen Van Zutphen; William Sutphen of New Jersey; or is descended from the John Sutphin line is urged to communicate with Mr. Gerry S. Harris, 20183 Meyers Road, Detroit 35, Michigan.

NOTES AND NEWS

"Thank you! thank you! thank you!" is just about the only way I can start this page of notes. Having just finished listing 39 contributors to this Volume XXII, I have a very heart-warming feeling, to be privileged to work with so many others. Our Detroit Society for Genealogical Research received compliments last fall, because so many different people write for our Magazine and work on our committees.

Volume 1, Number 1 of the Flint Genealogical Quarterly made its bow in January. We surely congratulate and rejoice with our friends and neighbors (and some of our members) in Flint who are responsible. Though modest in size, it includes reports, suggestions and book lists, with three pages of data on Michigan families.

Congratulations are also due the Genealogical Forum of Portland, Oregon who will bring out Volume II of Genealogical Material in Oregon Donation Land Claims in June, complete with maps and more information on migrating ancestors (well! somebody's ancestors, if not yours.)

Other first appearances include James J. Carey in this issue with the "Inscriptions from St. Gertrude's Cemetery." We hope he notices it, although there's a brand-new Carey, Christopher Martin by name, to absorb his father's attention. Recent appearances of some of our public speakers include Frances Davis McTeer before the Clinton Woman's Club of Clinton, Mich., speaking on genealogy; Mrs. Raymond Millbrook before one of the D.A.R. chapters, on "The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research" (My! my! we're a topic!!); and Haviland F. Reves before the Detroit City Council on the subject of expressways (his somewhat rueful comment is that he started with thousands of backers, but now he's only sure of one -- Mrs. Reves).

Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Edward V. Howlett of Pontiac, whose husband died in March -- and to the family of Mrs. A. T. Griffith of West Long Branch, New Jersey, who passed away last October. She had been one of our members since early in 1957.

Edwin Hill sends a clipping from an Indianapolis paper, telling of one man's Revolutionary ancestor, who enlisted in the Continental Army at the age of 91. Many of us have found ancestors who were teen-age soldiers, but this is really going to the other extreme.

"Cast your bread upon the waters and it comes back as cake!" is Elsie Cameron's description of some of her activities as Research Chairman. Recent attention to a request from Miss Nora Cummins of Seattle, Washington brought a most appreciative letter AND a copy of Miss Cummins' book "History and Genealogy of the Cummins and Related Families". Before placing the book in the Burton Historical Collection, Mrs. Cameron copied off bible records for the DSGR Magazine and Pioneer Records for the Michigan State Library. Thank you both, Miss C. and Mrs. C.

Other additions to the Burton Collection include "The Family of Thomas Slocum" from Mr. W. R. McCann of Hopewell, Virginia and "The Family of Hessel O. Yntema" -- a very handsome, copyrighted book by Mrs. Mary E. Yntema of Grand Rapids, Michigan!

Missed at the last meeting: our busy Membership Chairman, Mrs. Donald F. Bovee, who broke her collarbone after the ice melted -- and Gerry Harris (See Is This Your Line?) who spends the second Saturday flying over Grosse Ile with the Naval Reserve.

Edna Harvey Joseph of Jasper, Indiana rejoices in a fine genealogical library, which she received from the late William Wade Hinshaw, one of her relatives. If you have problems in Pennsylvania, North Carolina or Indiana, she might be able to give you a suggestion as to where to pursue your search.

Coming events which sound interesting include the courses at Cooperstown (the Camerons plan to return) and at Washington (where Eva Murrell Harrison is looking for a new "line") and the Second Conference on Local History Participation which is already scheduled for the weekend of October 23d & 24th. So what else is everybody going to do this summer? Let's hear about your summer trips -- either before or after. And whatever you do or wherever you go, may the trip be pleasant, your hunting productive and don't forget the family reunions, the libraries you haven't visited -- and your DSGR friends.

REPORT OF MEETINGS
Roy E. McFee

The meeting of January 10 drew a filled room again, with an audience that listened in rapt attention. Mr. James M. Babcock, Chief of the Burton Historical Collection, spoke on five books, which he held up as recent acquisitions to be found on the Burton shelves.

The main speaker was Mr. Harold Glassford, who is head of the engineering department of Burton Abstract and Title Company. His subject was "Early Land Records of Old Detroit."

He placed on the bulletin board a large map of early Detroit, showing the Private Claims, Governor and Judges Plan, Park Lots, Ten Thousand Acre Tract, Military Reserve, Shipyard Tract, and the Townships. Detroit abstracts, as history of land, go back to these first titles.

Detroit was founded in 1701 as a military outpost, by Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac. He named it Fort Ponchartrain. Half of his one hundred men were soldiers. The others were farmers and artisans, who intended to stay and be joined by their families. The Private Claims date from 1707, when Cadillac made the grants, through power bestowed upon him by the King of France. With river frontage at a premium, these first French farms were made very narrow, but extended 40 arpents back from the water. With an arpent equaling 194.40 feet, this depth was almost one and a half miles. Later, because of firewood depletion, these farms were extended another 40 arpents by grants called second concessions. They thus became nearly three miles long. The numbers of the old French Private Claims are still used in abstracts today.

Some land was bought directly from the Indians. Chief Pontiac conveyed an enormous tract of land by deed containing the words, "for the good of the whole Ottawa Nation."

The French were rather lax in their surveying and recording. But they were honest and trusted one another. Their titles depended much on a man's word and statements of neighbors.

The English took Detroit from the French in 1760. The new rulers cared only for military security. They wanted to thwart Chief Pontiac and hold the post for King George III. They left affairs much to the French settlers, without disturbing land titles or the language. Although the Revolutionary War ended with a treaty signed in 1783, Detroit did not come under American government until 1796, when General Anthony Wayne arrived and took control.

After the fire of 1805 completely destroyed Detroit, it was thought by some to have been a blessing in disguise, because it ended the narrow streets. The Governor and Judges Plan was formed, somewhat after Major L'Enfant's plan for Washington, D.C. Radial streets, following a master hexagon pattern, were to converge on centers endless in number as the city grew. Traces of the plan are still evident in the business district, but it was generally abandoned. The speaker said, "Imagine this city today with a Grand Circus Park every 4000 feet."

The United States Government helped to assure a better plan by deeding to the city the Ten Thousand Acre Tract. The Private Claims were surveyed anew with better instruments. Then the Public Lands Survey was established with Michigan land referred to a Base Line at Eight Mile Road and a Principal Meridian passing near Jackson. The Register of Deeds Office had been started in 1795, and thus city plan, titles and recordings grew into the present system.

The land records were mostly saved during the great fire. But the British in 1812 apparently carried away the first two volumes. Clarence M. Burton is said to have gone to London, England, in quest of these, but had to be content with Detroit affidavits instead.

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln was observed with profound interest and respect at our meeting of February 14 -- two days after the event. The entire program was the talk on "Lincolniana in Detroit," by Mr. James M. Babcock, Chief of Burton Historical Collection. Mr. Babcock explained modestly that he was speaking, not as a Lincoln scholar, but as a librarian.

He said he had asked himself why our Society should devote a program to Lincoln, and thought it was because we are interested in heritage. Lincoln's acts had influence on our own forebears of his time, and thus have affected our own political outlooks of today. The speaker thinks he can see how some of his political philosophy is derived directly from Lincoln. The Emancipator is now seen to have had so many facets that any one of us can be dazzled.

We may note briefly how Lincoln has influenced Detroit generally. We have Lincoln Avenue, Lincoln Hospital, Lincoln School, and Lincoln Branch Library. The telephone book shows the Lincoln name used by sixty corporations and business firms. There is also the Lincoln car.

The outstanding item of Lincolniana in Detroit is the Edgar DeWitt Jones Lincoln Collection, now part of the Burton Historical Collection at the Detroit Public Library. This Lincoln Collection was once the private library of the late Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, long the Pastor of Central Woodward Christian Church, Detroit. It comprises nearly one thousand books, and many pamphlets, pictures, clippings and periodicals. It is thus built largely on books rather than original manuscripts, and is mostly of Lincoln the man, and not of the Civil War.

Persons like Dr. Jones have grown spiritually by studying Lincoln. This is a library gathered by a man whose every public utterance, almost, had somewhat to do with Lincoln. It is not a collector's collection, but the library of a working man. He cared for the usefulness of his Lincoln books -- not their rarity. Note that these books are worn. They have been used.

This Lincoln Collection came into the possession of Burton through the generous act of Mr. C. Allen Harlan, Detroit industrialist. Mr. Harlan offered to buy the Collection from Dr. Jones on the understanding that it would be given directly to the Detroit Public Library. And thus a benefactor's gift has preserved this Collection for all the generations to come. Indeed, it is already in constant use, mainly for preparing addresses and papers on Lincoln.

The Jones family is still finding more of the books and turning them over to Burton, and the Public Library itself is extending the Collection by buying newly published Lincoln books.

Mr. Babcock also spoke of Detroit's three notable pieces of Lincoln sculpture. The first is Gutzon Borglum's massive stone bust on the grounds of the Detroit Institute of Arts. Another is Augustus St. Gaudens' small standing Lincoln, also owned by the Detroit Institute of Arts. Still another is a heroic bronze of Lincoln, copied from the original done by Alfonso Pelser, for Lincoln Park, Chicago. This third piece of sculpture stood for years on the lawn of the Lincoln Motor Company, but is now on the grounds of the Downtown Library.

In concluding, Mr. Babcock paid tribute to Mr. Thomas Starr of Royal Oak, Michigan, as a Lincoln scholar and collector. He also said that a Lincoln library would contain a tremendous number of volumes if it covered Lincoln the man and the entire Civil War period with its issues. And he added that Lincoln is now the most written about man of all time.

An air of anticipation prevailed as the meeting of March 14 began with every seat filled. A short talk was given by Mr. James M. Babcock, Chief of Burton Historical Collection, on more books now added to Burton. One is a new supplement to the Dictionary of American Biography.

Our main speaker was Mr. Richard H. Wernette, a lawyer, and Estates Analyst of Wayne County Probate Court. He talked on "Probate Records as an Aid in Genealogical Research."

Mr. Wernette explained that there is some misunderstanding in the public mind about the work of the Probate Court. It is often confused with probation, for example. Actually, the Probate Court has jurisdiction over the settling of estates through wills or letters of administration; also over adoptions, changes of name, guardianships for minors, and delayed birth records. Still other responsibilities include guardianships or commitments for juvenile delinquents, mental incompetents, alcoholics, narcotic addicts, epileptics and spendthrifts.

In 1818 a Probate Court was established in every county of Michigan. The files for Wayne County date from the 1790's. The earliest records are in longhand, many of them in French.

Some of these files are rich sources for genealogy. The more important records for that purpose are those which tell of the handling of estates, guardianships, changes of name, and delayed birth registrations. All of these abound in family histories, with names and dates.

However, adoption records in Probate Court have been secret since 1945, when a Michigan law imposed secrecy on such records, both past and future. This secrecy does not hold against the person adopted. He may see his own adoption records in full -- something not generally understood by the public. The secrecy is somewhat qualified as to others. If a person thinks he has a good and sufficient reason for seeing the adoption records of another, he must appear in Probate Court and give convincing proof. The Court may then in its discretion grant access, but only to that part of the adoption records that are pertinent to the searcher's approved purpose. It is thus difficult to trace ancestry through adoption records.

Mr. Wernette explained that the Probate Court has to be cautious in showing any records, to make certain that they are being used for proper purposes. For instance, some persons make a practice of looking up heirs in distant places -- heirs who perhaps are fully protected by will or laws of inheritance. These heirs are sometimes persuaded to sign contracts giving up a high percentage of the inheritance in return for help that is not needed. Later the Court is blamed for making the information available in the first place. However, the speaker assured us that he will be happy to have any of us come to see the records for reasonable purposes.

Most papers in Probate Court are indexed. This includes all wills and codicils. But less than half of estates probated are of people with wills. Also, there are many wills recorded which were never proved. For example, only the last will of a person is probated. There are other wills recorded when there was no property involved. Perhaps husband and wife owned all property jointly, but each had also willed everything to the other. Such wills are not proved.

The Probate Court also has a safekeeping service for wills of persons still alive. All wills and codicils brought there are sealed, locked away, and indexed. It is a free service, and not required. Mr. Wernette said, "The Probate Court is there to protect heirs."
